The Fundraising Event for ARI

Presented by

Healing Between Worlds™ × Asian Rural Institute

What is Peace?

Invitation

“The most powerful ways to create peace in community are to realize one’s inner strength and real connection with soul, society, and nature.”

We invite you to an extraordinary 5-day intensive program designed to gain new insights, knowledge, values and beliefs about yourself and the surrounding world, so that each person will have the opportunity to learn how to create peace in community.

Healing Between Worlds™ welcomes you to a healing and reconciliation process in which you will explore, discover and more deeply understand the inner strength you inherited from your ancestors.

Asian Rural Institute provides an exceptionally unique multi-cultural learning environment in Japan. Here you will have a chance to discover the beauty of simplicity in life through sharing community and experiencing organic farming.

Combining these powerful new experiences together, we invite you to enjoy transforming to the next level where you can become ready to serve as a leader in peacemaking.

Work with 5 seeds

Remembering wisdoms each of us hold is the first step for peace making. It is like discovering seeds within and growing them to be active players for healing and bridging.

Work on the Actual Issue

There will be an opportunity to work on an actual issue that requires healing and reconciliation to make a shift.

The program will help you remember your core identity as a peace maker and the gifts you carry. It will potentially be a healing experience for you and empower you to play an important role in healing separation in community.

What is ARI?

The Asian Rural Institute (ARI) is a community based training center for Rural Leaders. The aim of ARI is to invite and train local grassroots leaders to more effectively serve in their communities as they work for the poor, the hungry and the marginalized.

That we may live together

In this special program, ARI provides a unique multi-cultural learning environment for you to explore the next step for a sustainable world. Together with you, we will discover how we can create peace in diverse and dynamic community. ARI's motto is "That We May Live Together".

Foodlife

Foodlife is a special word used at ARI to express the reality that food and life cannot be separated; both depend upon each other, so we work to sustain life through a healthy relationship with nature.

Servant Leadership

A good leader must be a servant first, then a leader. In contradiction to the conventional top-down leadership, Servant Leadership suggests that we serve and support people from the bottom up.

The program introduces the core concepts of ARI, sustainable agriculture through integrated organic farming techniques, community building, and servant leadership, through lectures, hands-on workshop, and community life.

Presenters

Takashi Yamashita

Despite the Great Eastern Japan Earthquake, which came the day after I joined, my desire to work for and with ARI did not change. My position as Program Coordinator allows me to connect people with ARI. I have come to understand the importance of connections and I believe that ARI's concept of "Foodlife" (the connection between Food and Life) contributes to Peace making.

Tomoko Arakawa

She started working at ARI in 1995 and became Director since 2015. Took MA in Rural Sociology at Michigan State University. Besides taking directorship, she has been teaching classes of Servant Leadership and Participatory Learning and Action at ARI.
